which water increases in the subdivision. The current water line to Cloverleaf is too small to serve INAmeoki Township Supervisor Harold Davis told the township Board of Trustees Monday night that the East St. Louis and Interurban Water Co. is ready to construct the line, but problems have developed.

The main problem is that the Madison County Community Development Director Mary Development of the Mary Said he had not been grown details of the problem, but was said he had not been grown details of the problem, but was said he had not been worked to make the mary development officials. Contacted by the Press Record Wednesday, Mrs. Kane Said County when a manual problem in a samular problem in a samular problem in a samular problem in a samular problem in the wording public utilities are public not for-profit bodies," Mrs. Kane said diding, "The regulations meant that such building are public not for-profit bodies," Mrs. Kane said diding, "The regulations are very unclear." We then issue with officials in Mashington and concluded, "We have a real problem in Madison County where most of the utilities are very unclear." Madison County where most of the utilities are worden by profit-making the public property when it man, planned to be constructed by the East St. Louis and therurban Water line under contract with Nameokh property of the water company. "You just can't do that," Mrs. Kane said.

Kane said.

So, she has written to the regional office of community development in Chicago requesting "an exception" to allow the Cloverleaf project to be funded. That request probably will be forwarded to Washington for a final decision, she added.

Our family circle has been

Our tamily circle has been broken,
A link gone from our chain;
But though we're parted for a while,
We know we'll meet again.
Some day we know not when—
We shall meet in a better land
And never part again.
We shall meet with many a loved one loved one . That was torn from our embrace. We shall listen to their voices And behold them fact to face. Sunshine passes, shadows fall, Love's remembrance outlasts all.

Mud hampered state in December 1877

Mud, resulting from mild and yet weather, was the major fact of life in Illinois during December a hundred years ago. Hardly an issue of the state's newspaper of that month in the callections of the Illinois State needs to the Illinois State on travel, business, Christmas celebrations, meetings and entertainment.

on travel, business, Christmas elebrations, meetings and entertainment. The end of November had been marked by near-zero streets and made, travel possible but "terribly rough." Mild weather and rain returned in early December and stayed around during the entire month—and mud took its toll. The Chicago Evening Journal reported that its unofficial removement of the control of the

LOCAL LABOR ORGANIZATIONS SUPPORT MADISON COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

WE, of organized Labor endorse the action of those Members of the Madison County Board of Supervisors, for their recent courageous stand on the award of a Contract for maintenance of County automobiles.

The real issue as we see it is simply this: Two Bids were submitted for the maintenance repair work on County automobiles, one Bid was Union — the other was not. The Board, after due consideration, awarded the Contract to the Union Bidder.

The Local Unions involved understand that the County Board cannot base the award of Contracts on Union Membership alone, however, organized Labor appreciates the fact that the County Board Members take into consideration the fact of wages, standard of skill and working condition in making their awards and not just who is the lowest bidder.

The Labor Organizations listed below, which comprise a total membership of approximately 200,000 members, endorse the action of the Board and stand behind those Members who awarded this Contract. Southern Illinois Labor supports their action and applaud their stand on this issue.

The House voted 115-45, eight more than the 197 eight more than 1 amendment," co-sponsored by Rep. Steele. The measure must now gain amendment, "co-sponsored by Rep, Steele.

The measure must now gain senite approval and a simple senite approval and a simple referendum to become part of the State Constitution.

"The House vote on this proposal is a victory for all the taxpayers of Illinois and all those who think government has those who think government has dollars," Rep Steele said.

"With this measure, the power of raising and setting taxes is back in the hands of the taxpayer, not the tax spender." Depresonal income absorbed by government at every level has risensteadily in recent decades, from 15 percent to 1980. The service of the presonal income absorbed by government at every level has risensteadily in recent decades, from 15 percent to 1980. The service of the presonal income absorbed take of 54 percent to 1980. The House-approved, amendment would mean that government could not 'impose taxes that would, along with all their revenues of the state, add up to more than seven percent of the personal income of Illinois citizens for that fiscal year.

Illinois Citizens for the seven year.

Rep. Steele said the seven percent limitation is "entirely reasonable, since the ratio of state revenues to personal income has stayed between six and seven percent in recent years.

and seven percent in recent years.
"Thus, the new limit would keep taxes in approximately the same proportion to income as several years."

The measure also establishes an emergency fund, which could be tapped only when the governor declares a specific cach house of the General Assembly concurs.

The seven percent limit could be suspended by the governor declare to a specific cach house of the General Assembly concurs.

The seven percent limit could be suspended by the governor sufficient to cover the emergency situation.

Taxation enacted to cover the Taxation enacted to cover the emergency situation would automatically be void the following year, and the seven percent tax limitation would again be in force, he said, adding:

"Only a referendum approved by the state's voters would allow the seven percent limit to be changed or increased.
